Curriculum Vitae

a.sophiewirth@gmail.com

As a young software developer from Berlin, I am looking for challenging work and challenging people. I am always trying to improve and gather new experiences. The quality of my work is one of the most important things to me, so I strive to find the balance between best practice and an open mind for new technologies. Critical thinking and detail orientation are no strangers to me.

Core Skills

I have gathered both back-end and front-end experience, am a problem solver and keen on always delivering the best result. I am an analytical thinker and level headed, especially when facing big tasks. I am a very visual person, love creating UIs and working with design work.
